Golf Course, Condominiums Planned for Rayburn's

The purchase of the Rayburn Estate by Gene Kraus, of Oak Park, was announced on Monday, June 13, by Bruce Gillis of Gillis Properties.

The Rayburn property begins approximately three miles east of Grayling and encompasses 11,076 acres between North Down River Road and M-72 East.

The property, which will be called River Bend Estates, will be a planned unit development (PUD). It will contain an 18-hole golf course, club house, full service restaurant, and condominium sites, both on the river and golf course.

Construction of the golf course is expected to begin this fall with the opening scheduled for July 15, 1990. The cost of the golf course is estimated to be in excess of $3,000,000.

Developer of the course is Top Golf of Brighton.

Airplane Lands Safely On Beaver Creek Road

A small aircraft on route from Kalamazoo to Gaylord on a business trip Sunday, June 13, made an emergency landing on Morristown Road.

The single engine Cessna, piloted by Roger Beyer of Paw Paw, was flying at 9,000 feet when the engine stalled. Beyer tried unsuccessfully to restart the engine. The plane drifted as it lost altitude until Beyer landed the airplane on the gravel road in Beaver Creek Township.

During the landing the wing of the plane hit several small pine trees, pulling the aircraft nose into the loose gravel beside the road. This caused the plane to veer off the road into a field of small Jack Pines, shearing off the landing gear, and damaging the propeller. The accident occurred at 9:30 a.m.

The pilot and his three passengers, Duane Parker, from Lawton; Frank Thompson, from Paw Paw; and Ray Swanson, from Paw Paw were uninjured.

Smoldering Hush Puppies Cause Damage to Cabin

The Grayling City and Township Fire Department was called out on Wednesday, June 8, to a cabin just south of the Holiday Inn.

Fire department personnel arrived at 7:15 p.m. and found the cabin engulfed in smoke with smoke escaping from the rear of the building. The windows were hot, and so black that fireman could not see inside.

The fireman prepared their equipment before entering the structure expecting to find a major fire. Instead, when the fireman entered the cabin, they found a pair of Hush Puppies shoes smoldering on a gas heater. The occupant had placed the shoes there to dry and had apparently forgotten about them.

The cabin sustained severe smoke damage, but there was no fire.

Russ Strohpaul, fire chief, said, "I suppose we should feel a little embarrassed, but I don't. All I feel is relief. It sure feels good to save a structure for a change. We've lost several to bad fires this month."

International Rotary V.I.P. Visiting Grayling Club

Rotary International President-Elect, Hugh Archer, has accepted an invitation from the Grayling Rotary Club to visit Grayling Wednesday, June 15.

Archer will assume the duties of president of Rotary International, which consists of 23,000 local clubs with more than one million members in 162 countries, on July 1, 1989.

While in Grayling, Archer and his party will travel down the AuSable River in AuSable River boats to the Rayburn Estate for a dinner reception. Rotarians and their spouses and guests from the 53 Michigan clubs that comprise District 629 will be attending this special gathering.

Archer is Chairman and founder of the Spiratex Company, a director of Synco Corp., Chairman of the Alliance Financial Corp., and is a registered professional engineer in private practice in Michigan.

Archer will serve as president of Rotary International for the 1989-1990 term.

Surplus Food Distribution Cancelled During June

Surplus food will not be distributed for the month of June. For more information call 348-3093. Please do not call the Eagles Club.

Community Education to Offer Summer Programs for Children

The Crawford AuSable Community Education Program will sponsor a summer program for students of grades 1 through 8 beginning on June 27 and ending on August 5. All classes will be held at the Grayling Middle School and will be taught by adults and in most cases, certified teachers.

Tuition for the summer program is $20.00 per student per class. Each class will meet for a 1½ hour period, two days each week. Any student wishing to take a summer class should fill out a registration form and return it by mail to: Community School Office, Grayling High School, Grayling, MI 49738.

Registrations must be received by the office no later than Monday, June 20, so that class schedules can be developed and put in the mail to students by June 21. The summer program is open to any student spending the summer in the Crawford AuSable School District.

The classes offered are Kid's Theatre, Kid's Musical Theatre, Reading, Mathematics, Gymnastics, Tennis, Exploring the Computer, and Beginning Signing.

One Year Millage For School District Approved by Voters

The Crawford AuSable Schools' 21.15 millage request was approved by voters on Monday, June 13.

The one year request passed by a margin of 210 votes—1113 yes to 903 no votes.

Voting results broken down by precincts are: Precinct 1, Grayling, 936 yes to 662 no; Precinct 2, Frederic, 115 yes to 142 no; and Precinct 3, Lovells, 62 yes to 99 no.

The millage, a 17.9 renewal request and an increase of 3.25, will allow the local school district to operate on the same program level for the 1988-89 school year, while the state legislature continues to attempt to create an equitable education finance reform package.

"I think the community should feel really good about these results," stated school superintendent Kent Reynolds, "because the results show a great deal of support for the community as a whole. The results are really a vote of confidence, not only for the schools, but also for the community."

Reynolds continued, "We now have to focus our attention on two things. First, following through to continue providing the best quality educational programing possible, and second, to work to provide state educational finance reform. We must insure that a meaningful proposal to provide property tax relief and statewide equity in spending is on the November ballot."

In the local school board election incumbent H. Ann Stephenson was selected over Gerald L. Worden, by a 393 margin—1072 to 679—to serve a four year term.

Christopher S. Dunkley won the two year seat, defeating Michael D. Shearer, 1011 votes to 702.

The Kirtland Community College Board of Trustees election has placed Robert Bovee of Grayling with 2248 votes and Roy Spangler of Roscommon with 2653 votes on the board for six year terms. Other candidates receiving votes were: Bryan Augustine, 1795; Hans Lantzsch, 1747; Warren Bontrager, 1575; and Debra Checota, 1350.

Township Supervisors Seek County's Help to Fight Junk

The Crawford County Supervisor's Association met June 6 at the Grayling Township Hall to formulate strategies for dealing with the numerous junk violations throughout the county and their townships.

It was decided at the meeting to have the association's attorney draft a "Letter of Concern" to the Crawford County Board of Commissioners indicating a willingness to work together but, at the same time, request more support from the County Prosecutor's office in assisting to get some of the more serious junk violations prosecuted.

One of the main problems is caused because certain townships operate with their own zoning ordinance while others fall under the jurisdiction of the Crawford County ordinance. This causes confusion among the residents of the county.

The average cost to prosecute offenders, by a township attorney, is between $250 to $300. The courts have recently been awarding an average of $90.00 in fees and costs to townships following a successful prosecution. This leaves an average of $185. per case for which taxpayer's dollars must be used. It is clear that some townships simply cannot afford the costs necessary to prosecute without assistance from the Prosecuting Attorney's office, the Supervisor's Association felt.

The next meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m., July 11, at the Grayling Township offices to receive input regarding the situation from the Crawford County Board of Commissioners.

7 Millage Proposals on August Ballot

The August primary ballot will include five county proposals, one Grayling Township proposal, and one Maple Forest proposal.

In previous articles the Avalanche has addressed the two Hanson Hill and Grayling Township proposals.

The following is a list of the remaining proposals with a brief explanation of why the agencies involved are making the requests.

County proposal II Commission on Aging

"Shall the County of Crawford levy 3/10 mill (.30 mill) ad valorem for a period of four years (1989, 1990, 1991 and 1992) upon all real and tangible personal property within the County of Crawford for the purpose of continuing the operation of Crawford County Senior Citizen Program through the Commission on Aging?"

This proposal includes both a .25 mill renewal request and a .05 mill increase to finance current programs and additional income services and general activities.

The Crawford County Commission on Aging millage was reduced from ½ mill to ¼ mill in 1984. Since this reduction the Commission on Aging has been able to operate on ¼ mill and the use of surplus funds. These surplus funds have now been depleted.

County proposal III Commission on Aging

"Shall the County of Crawford levy 1/5 mill (.20 mill) ad valorem for a period of four years (1989, 1990, 1991, and 1992) upon all real and tangible personal property within the County of Crawford for the purpose of renting, operating and maintaining a facility to house the Commission on Aging within Crawford County?"

This is a new millage request. Prior to 1984, voters had approved ¼ mill for the operation of the Commission on Aging. In 1984 this millage request was reduced to ¼ mill because a surplus of funds existed. The surplus has now been depleted.

If this millage request is not approved by voters, rent and maintenance for a facility to house the Commission on Aging will have to come from proposal II millage (.30 mill), and programs will have to be reduced to compensate for this expense.

County proposal IV Dial-A-Ride

"Shall the County of Crawford levy, not to exceed 3/4 mill (.75 mill) each year for the continued operation of the Crawford County Public Transportation System (known as Dial-A-Ride) commencing with the 1988 tax levy?"

This is a request for renewal of 3/4 mill for operational expenses. The difference in this renewal request was necessary because it allowed the Crawford County Transportation Authority Board an opportunity to raise or lower the millage request, depending on the revenue situation.

The transportation board, after nearly 12 years experience operating the county transit system, is confident that the Dial-A-Ride program can be administered annually for not more than 3/4 mill.

If this proposal is not approved by voters on August 2nd, Dial-A-Ride will run out of county funds this year. If the proposal is presented again in November and approved at that time, the program could not receive county funds until 1990. This would leave the system in serious financial difficulty.

Maple Forest Township proposal

"Shall the Township of Maple Forest, Crawford County, Michigan renew its ad valorem tax levy of 2.00 mills ($2.00 per $1,000.00 of state equalized valuation) for an additional four years from 1988 through 1991 inclusive for the purpose of continuing to provide funds for Emergency Services (fire & ambulance)?"

This is a renewal request. Maple Forest Township contracts with Frederic Township to provide fire and ambulance services to its residents.

PILOT AND THREE PASSENGERS WALK AWAY—Four businessmen traveling to Gaylord in this single engine Cessna made an unscheduled landing on Morristown Road Sunday, June 13.

$104,474 Grant Helps Low Income Renters

The Grayling Housing Commission has been awarded a $104,474 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, according to Congressman Bob Davis.

Davis said the Section 8 funds will provide 25 housing unit vouchers to assist low-income residents with rent payments. This program makes up the difference between what low-income and very low-income residents can afford and the fair market rent for adequate housing units.

"I am pleased to announce this award," Davis said, "affordable housing is a major concern of low-income families and this program will ensure safe affordable housing for residents of Grayling."

Guy Quigley, Grayling Housing Commission director, stated that this is the first year that Grayling has received Section 8 funds. He explained that he expects the Grayling City Council, meeting June 13, to accept the program by resolution. Grayling housing officials will then sign the final documents to obtain the funds.

"As a member of the housing commission, I am in favor of this program," stated Peter Stephan. "I feel confident that with Guy Quigley supervising the administration of the program that it will be beneficial to our community. Not only will it help to provide needed housing for low-income families, but it will insure that the housing is adequate to meet the family's needs. All approved housing units will have to meet federal specifications."

Housing commission staff will begin training within 60 days to learn how to administer this program.

Following completion of the staff training the Grayling Housing Commission will place notices in the local papers, that will detail income limits, acceptable family composition, and housing qualifications.

Hartwick Pines Park Hosts 'Old Time Days'

The annual "Old Time Days in the Tall Timber" festival at Hartwick Pines State Park will take place on Friday and Saturday, June 18 and 19.

Features of the day will include the Heritage String Band from Port Huron, playing 19th century music.

Two blacksmiths, Steve Anderson and a Grayling youth, 14 year old Jeremiah Hoover, will be demonstrating their smithing skills.

Several artists will be exhibiting their crafts of the era. Joe Kutten will be wood-burning logging pictures, John Smedley will demonstrate his wood carving, and there will also be a typical camp carpenter plying his trade.

The large sawmill, powered by a 1912 Port Huron steam tractor, will be operated by park staff.

The Hartwick Pines Lumbering Museum depicts the major industry that caused settlement and development in northern Michigan, beginning in the mid-1880s. Three log buildings constructed by Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) workers in the 1930s house many pieces of authentic 19th century logging equipment.

Regular features include the museum exhibits, furnished period rooms typical of lumber town housing in the 1800s, and interpretive lectures on the logging industry.

Many of the Hartwick Pine's Staff will be dressed in period costumes.

Hartwick Pines State Park is the largest state park in the Lower Peninsula, and holds one of Michigan's last remaining stands of virgin White and Norway pines.

Last year 201,000 people visited the park and interpretive center.

New Hydrant System Improves Fire Protection

By Irene Pettyjohn

Living in a peninsula state, with hundreds of inland lakes and rivers, it is natural to assume that there is plenty of water to meet whatever needs arise. Residents of Beaver Creek Township know that this is not always true. Their township lacks water sources, and the firemen from the Beaver Creek Fire Department face this problem everytime they are dispatched to fight a fire.

For this reason the township fire department, with the full support of the township board, has begun installing a system of fire hydrants throughout the township.

The purpose of the system is to improve fire protection. This will be accomplished by insuring that residents of the township are never more than two miles from a water source.

Ed Holtcamp, township fire chief, explained that fire loss is estimated at $1000 per minute. At that rate there is no time to break through the ice on a lake, or haul water in from several miles. Holtcamp is convinced that the dry hydrants and storage hydrants will provide a ready source of valuable water.

The Beaver Creek water system utilizes two hydrant designs.

A dry hydrant, so named because there is no water in the hydrant to freeze in the winter, is placed near an unlimited water source, such as a creek, pond, or lake. A water screen apparatus that looks like a large fork is submerged below the ice level, and connected to the hydrant with six inch PVC pipe. The water screen is constructed with 10,000 tiny slots that filter out sand and other debris in the water that would keep the fire engine pumps in constant disrepair.

A storage hydrant is connected to a large below-ground steel tank, or a series of tanks, that hold 6,000 to 10,000 gallons of water (more in the linked tanks). The only visible sign of the presence of the tank is the red hydrant and an air vent painted to blend into the environment. These tanks are buried in strategic locations in the township.

The system currently has 3 dry hydrants and 3 storage hydrants operational, with 6 additional tanks planned for installation this year.

Before installation can begin, easements must be secured from affected property owners. Installation of a dry hydrant requires approximately 3 hours to complete, and a storage hydrant 5 hours. Once the cleaned tanks and hydrants have been connected, ground restoration finishes the project. The tanks are filled with water, and the system is ready to serve Beaver Creek's residents.

The cost for this protection has been kept to a minimum. The tanks have all been donated by several companies including Fick & Sons Oil Distributors and Jack Millikin, Inc. of Grayling. The system has been installed by Beaver Creek fire department personnel. Specialty parts necessary for the system have been designed by Roger Weatherly, engineer for the department, who has an associates degree in drafting and design from Kirtland Community College. These parts have been manufactured by CSI-Clio Systems, Inc. and Milan Supply Co., both of Grayling. Holtcamp stated that the 12 hydrants will cost approximately $12,000.

Besides the obvious benefit of better fire protection that the completed hydrant system offers Beaver Creek residents, Holtcamp explained that there is an additional benefit. Once the hydrant system is complete, and has been inspected by Insurance Service Offices (ISO) he expects a 17 to 20 percent decrease in insurance premiums for township residents.

The Beaver Creek Fire Department is not a volunteer fire department. It employs three full-time and fourteen part-time employees. The department is supported by taxes from an assessed fire district.

The department's future plans include the construction of a second township fire station to be located on the corner of S. Grayling Road and Dort Road. Construction on the five man station should begin in two years. When completed, 93% of the residents will be within five miles of a fire station, and this may mean an additional reduction in insurance rates.

"Fire loss is estimated at $1000 per minute."

Ed Holtcamp
Twp. Fire Chief

LARGE STEEL TANKS WILL SUPPLY WATER - These tanks when buried, and filled will provide a valuable water supply to Beaver Creek Township residents.

DRY HYDRANTS - Dry hydrants such as this one provide water at unlimited water sources instantly.

Correction

Last week's Avalanche article listing the Primary candidates contained an error and an omission. The Lovells Township listing should have informed readers that incumbent Helen M. Spencer and Cheryl L. Hopp are both Republican candidates seeking their party's nomination for township clerk in the August 2nd primary. It should have also listed incumbent Dolores M. Haberland and Dorothy J. DeVos, Republicans, facing off for nomination for Township treasurer.

To the Citizens of the Grayling Area:

75 years ago a great American and citizen of Grayling, Rasmus Hanson, showed his support for his National Guard by donating land to the State of Michigan to create a military training area.

This summer we celebrate Camp Grayling's 75th Anniversary and pause to give thanks for 75 years of freedom protected by the men and women who trained here. This could not have occurred without your cooperation, understanding and friendship.

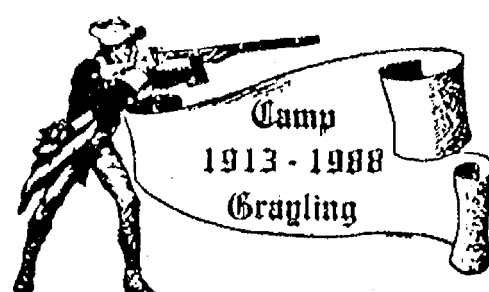

Over 8,000 men and women are attending our training period this summer. Many of them will be joined by their families for the 75th Diamond Jubilee Celebration, June 24 - 26 and, as in past years, many of these will return to Grayling again this summer to vacation. This is in itself a tribute to your community and its sincerity in making members of the Guard welcome.

Thank you for your support and hospitality. I hope you will be my guest at a reception being planned in your honor at the new Maintenance and Training Equipment Site (MATES) on North Down River Road, beginning at 6 p.m., Tuesday, June 21st.

Sincerely,

Northern Views

By Jon Thompson

I've heard people downplay sports all my life. Coaches, players, and fans are criticized for glorifying sports. Some frenzied sport nuts act as if teams were playing for a thumbs up or thumbs down decision on life itself.

I don't like the crazy sports people - the people who haven't put sports into perspective below the importance of family, friends, health, freedom, and other irreplaceable items.

But I also don't like people who pooh-hah some of the drama of sports.

A championship means a lot more to many athletes than salary increases or commercial endorsements that may follow.

Take the current NBA championship series between the Detroit Pistons and LA Lakers.

Adrain Dantley and Isiah Thomas are already stars of the game. They have won scoring titles, assist titles, and All-Star MVP awards. But they're not happy with just those acknowledgements. They both want a team title - the undisputed claim that you are the best in basketball.

Look at the urgency in the play of those two men. They have a total of 19 years on the NBA courts yet they are pushing hard. They both know how few chances there are to play for a title. One chance in 12 years for A.D. One chance in 7 years for Zeke.

Sure life goes on after the game is over. But imagine the frustration awaiting these two great players if they have to look back at their careers and wonder. Wonder what ingredient was missing to win a team title. Was it their fault? Did a blown in-bounds pass really make the difference?

Basketball, like many other fast-moving sports, is a team game in which no one individual can play a perfect game. Bowl a 300 game and you can't do any better. Score 50 points on 25 for 25 from the field and you still may have turned the ball over three times or missed a rebound and played poor defense on a number of plays.

So the game never lets you be ultimately satisfied with your own play. The only satisfaction awaiting Isiah and A.D. is a team title. Only then will they feel they reached the top.

His friends were trying to pay him back for many practical jokes, which included some funny caricatures.

The pay-back didn't seem to embarrass him much. The Boss, dressed up as a sultan, was as funny dancing as Fatima.

I think his friends have already gone back to the drawing board to plot a different way to embarrass him. But the Boss also says he may be going back to the "drawing board."

Letters to the Editor

'Iron Triangle' Cause Of Many of Pentagon's Problems.

Dear Editor:

The following Editorial was printed in the March issue of Forbes Magazine of Business.

OVERKILL

"The Pentagon's problems are easily stated. New weapons cost too much, and too few can then be bought. They are too complex, so they break down more often and are costlier to maintain. They take 10 to 15 years to develop, which fritters away the technological edge to compensate for the Soviet advantage in quantity. Thus the Navy in the Persian Gulf has frigates whose elaborate Sonars can detect distance submarines but not nearby mines. Instead of a towable $500 dollar reflector to decoy radar-guided missiles, its ships have expensive electronic jamming suites that don't work. Its planes sport missiles costing $160,000 yet an Iranian freighter fighter easily evaded the two fired at it. The cause of these dysfunctions is an iron triangle of the services: weapons-buying bureaucracies, defense contractors and Congress. The air force systems command has 26,000 people with nothing to do but supervise the design of the weapons."

A friend of mine, working for a defense contractor whose business is defense oriented, told me that they were raising money to defeat their Senator because he was on the Senate Pentagon committee. Why? He refused to vote for the government paying the cost of all materials used by them in advance. I was told that our new tank repair shop will handle 28 tanks at a time. Do we ever have 28 here?

That calls it loud and clear. Like our guard mid-night serenade.

U.S. Marines Appreciate Use of Camp Grayling

Editor

On April 16 and 17 reservists from Marine Wing Support Group 47 (M1 Clemens, Michigan) trained for two days at Camp Grayling. Nearly all of the Marines fired either the rifle or pistol for qualification.

Although the members of MWSG-47 are all specialists of one type or another, they are, like all Marines, constantly given refresher training in the skills of the combat infantryman. At Camp Grayling this included training in infiltration procedures, communications and dealing with booby-traps in a special course set up for the weekend.

Our combat engineers received thorough and detailed training in the use of high explosives. This included a great deal of practical experience. In all of the different areas that the Marines trained over this very productive weekend they were able to hone skills that could be life saving if applied in a combat environment.

As Marines we hope, as much as any American, that our country will never see the kind of national emergency that places our reserve forces in combat, but we remain active in the reserve because we realize that that possibility is always with us.

We would like to express our appreciation to the residents of the Grayling area for the opportunity provided us at Camp Grayling. We realize that we did not make your weekend a quiet one and we appreciate your patience. In return we would assure you that while at Camp Grayling we made every effort to avoid damage to the environment and we attempted to leave the area that we used cleaner than we found it.

Strong Defense Needed But Cut Waste

Dear Editor:

I am writing of our concerns on what the National Guard is destroying in Crawford and adjoining counties. I am also writing concerning the noise made by the cannons as well as the aircraft.

I would like you to know first that I am an ex-Armed Forces Veteran. I served my country for four years. One and one half of these years was served in Korea.

Secondly, I have been a resident of Crawford County for 43 years.

As a Veteran, I feel that we MUST have a strong Defense but not, at the expense, of the American taxpayers. I believe in the cannon and aircraft firing but I also feel that they should stop this by 10:00 p.m. and not begin until 6 a.m. This would give everyone in these counties a good and healthy night's rest.

Now as to what the guard and regular army destroy and kill. Every year we lose thousands of acres of timber as well killing a lot of wildlife. We lose it to controlled burns as well as to the men being in and using our acreage. Timing of the firing in any range should be in conjunction with the D.N.R. as well as local law officials. This is so that the communities in all areas are protected.

Another concern of mine is on our lakes large and small as well as our streams. The guards have bombed and shelled them killing millions of fish and some wildlife that make their homes surrounding them. In my opinion, and in many others as well, we believe that the military should stay at least one mile from the lakes and streams unless, they are off duty and enjoying it as it was intended.

One last and very important subject is the military spending of the tax payers money as well as the waste. They have buried millions of dollars in food and ammunition as well as many other things too great to list. The sites on which it is now, is unknown. In the past, I have seen with my own eyes when it left for the various dump sites. I urge you to make stiffer regulations on ALL National Guard and Governmental units spending to stop this waste.

I thank you for doing a good job in the past, but it's the future of our young we must look to.

Report Blasts P.A.C.S. Influence on State Campaigns

By Warren M. Hoyt
Michigan Press Association

Constituents who elect legislators to represent their interests in state government are losing out to political action committees (PAC's) which are influencing Michigan's elected officials at an ever increasing rate, a report released recently by Common Cause in Michigan says.

The report is a culmination of PAC studies done by Common Cause since the 1978 election through the 1986 election.

The negative trends cited by the report include: PAC money tends to make legislative races less competitive because PAC's contribute much more money to incumbents; elected officials are more accessible to PAC's contributors than the average citizen; and PAC's have their greatest influence after a general election when they are affecting the legislative decision-making process.

"The effect of influence may not be seen in something as obvious as a vote," the report says.

"It may not be seen in a small change in a bill. It may be seen in an attempt to influence a colleague. It may be seen in a cancelled committee meeting. The effects may be subtle, but they are there."

The study shows state legislators received 53 percent of their 1986 contributions from PACs and there is a growing trend of PACs giving money to caucuses.

"Caucus funding provides a mechanism by which special interests can channel funds to legislative races without giving directly to legislators," the report noted.

PACs contributed $4.1 million to legislative candidates in 1986.

The average House PAC contribution was $8.19 percent, with Democratic candidates getting 71 percent of their funds ($1.6 million) from PACs and Republicans getting 29 percent ($659,574), while the average in the Senate was 47.71 percent, with Republicans getting 62 percent from PACs ($1.1 million) and Democrats 38 percent ($682,028).

The report noted a Senate study showing total PAC contributions to legislators and political parties in the 1985-86 election cycle was $9.7 million, or 77 percent more than the prior election, with business PAC contributions up 78 percent and labor PACs up 71 percent.

The "big three" organized labor groups—United Auto Workers, Michigan AFL-CIO and the Michigan Education Association -- contributed more than $1.3 million to 1986 campaigns. Among the 16 PACs giving over $100,000, health related PACs spent over $550,000, attorneys over $230,000 and Michigan Beer and Wine Wholesalers over $135,000.

The report recommends: --full contribution disclosure, eliminating the reporting exemption of amounts of $20 or less;

--providing tax credits for small contributions; and --partial public financing of legislative campaigns as has been done for gubernatorial election, allowing for enforceable spending limits and contribution limits. Funding sources could come from an income tax check-off and/or general appropriation, the report concluded.

Energy Appraisal Predicts use of 4.3 billion gallons of gasoline

The Public Service Commission has released its semiannual appraisal of energy supplies which predicts Michigan motorists are expected to spend over $1 billion on gasoline this summer with a total of 4.3 billion gallons expected to be consumed during the year.

The figures were part of a report entitled "Michigan Energy Appraisal: Summer Outlook, 1988" released by the PACs Office of Planning Policy and Evaluation.

Other report highlights include total distillate fuel oil demand in 1988 is projected to increase about 8 percent over 1987, to about one billion gallons, due primarily to the warmer than average temperatures in the fall of 1987 and color weather during the first quarter of 1988.

Natural gas use in the state during 1988 is expected to increase 4 percent to 645.8 billion cubic feet with 210 billion cubic feet expected to be stored by August and available to meet winter demands.

Total electricity use in Michigan, based on Consumers Power and Detroit Edison projections, is expected to increase by about 1.2 percent to 89.3 billion kilowatt hours in 1988 from the total of 79.4 in 1987.

US oil imports are expected to total 37 percent of the daily US oil supply in 1988 and cost an average $100 million per day.

Almanack

Jackson Spices up Campaign

by Richard Milliman

NO MATTER HOW the presidential race turns out, the Rev. Jesse Jackson has added several new dimensions to presidential politicking.

He has delivered rhyme and alliteration and crescendo and cadence and several other qualities to be envied among stump speakers.

None of these qualities should be confused with reason, however.

Mr. Jackson's budget program for example, reiterated a couple of favorite but simplistic cries - cut the military and soak the rich. He outlines a five-year federal budget plan which would increase taxes on the wealthy by $244 billion and on corporations by $104 billion, cut defense spending by $164 billion, and boost spending on social programs by $344 billion.

Corporations, in Mr. Jackson's view, apparently can afford more taxes; they aren't voters anyway. As for the personal income tax, he proposed raising the top income tax rate by more than one-third - from 28 percent to 38.5 percent.

"It's just the top 600,000 taxpayers who earn $200,000 and above, who will return from 28 percent to 38.5 percent," Mr. Jackson explained. "They can afford it."

The pity is that lots of folks agree with his economics.

***
THEN THERE'S the question of selective criticism... sort of the "who, me?" syndrome.

Mr. Jackson took exception to Vice President George Bush's recent description of him "a hustler from Chicago." Mr. Jackson was not satisfied when Bush aides explained that what Mr. Bush really meant was that Mr. Jackson had really worked hard during his career.

So Mr. Jackson responded with much more vitriol than had been sent in his direction.

Claiming Mr. Bush was near the panic stage in his campaign, Mr. Jackson said:

"Why would anyone resort to name-calling? A combination of constipation of the brain, deafness of ideas, and diarrhea of the mouth."

So take that, George Bush!
What's that old adage about the pot and the Kettle comparing colors?

***
IS JOB RESERVED? --Speaking of black politicians... it almost seems these days that the job as mayor of America's largest cities is reserved for black politicians. New York City is the obvious exception, of course.

One reason is that black populations are concentrated more and more within big cities, giving black office seekers much more political clout.

Detroit is a case in point. Mayor Coleman A. Young has been mayor almost as long as anyone can remember, and indicates he will seek a fifth four-year term next year, even though he recently passed his 70th birthday.

The Detroit News, speculating on "what-if" Mr. Young doesn't run, discussed 18 possible successors. All are black.

Here's an oddity that's hard to believe, but it's true... Jack Norworth, the man who wrote the most famous baseball song of all-time, "Take Me Out To The Ball Game", had never seen a baseball game when he wrote that song—and what is even stranger is this: After he wrote the song in 1906, and became famous and made lots of money from it, Norworth waited 34 more years—till 1940—to go see his first big league game!

When Mark McGwire of the Oakland A's hit 49 home runs last season, that was the most homers EVER hit by a rookie in one season in the entire history of big league baseball.

Did you know there were once major league baseball teams known as the Pilots, Browns, Spiders and Bees? The Seattle Pilots played in 1969...The St. Louis Browns played from 1902 to 1954...Cleveland was known as the Spiders in the 1890s...And the Boston Bees played from 1936 to 1940.

I bet you didn't know...that there is only one thing more exciting than watching the Pistons in the NBA finals: getting a new car from Scheer Motors! Mike Fortino can show you the moves of Isiah Thomas, the fitness of Bill Laimbeer and the exuberance of Dennis Rodman while showing you the new car or truck of your dreams! Reach for the finals, see Scheer Motors today!

MIDDLE-AGE AND GLASSES

QUESTION: I've never worn glasses in my life, but now that I'm 43 I really have to strain to see things clearly. Is there any medication that can help me?

ANSWER: There aren't any pills you can take to improve your vision. You probably need correction glasses, especially for reading. As people get older, their near-focusing muscles are not as effective as they used to be. This usually begins to happen when you approach middle-age. The ability of the near-focusing muscles to bend the lens of the eye so you can focus sharply on distant or nearby objectives declines with age. This can cause eye-strain and headaches unless you wear corrective glasses. Properly prescribed glasses can solve this problem.

Hogan and Kelly United In Double-Ring Ceremony

Saint Mary's Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding of Lisa Hogan and Chad Kelly, on February 19, 1988. The double ring ceremony was officiated by Deacon Bob Nolan and Fr. Jerry Miketti.

Lisa is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hogan of Manistee. Chad is the son of Mrs. Mary Kelly of Lansing, and the late William Kelly.

Music was provided by Marianne LeVigne, soloist and friend of the couple, and Ellen Thompson, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long sleeve tea length gown of white lace with a bodice that featured pearls and sequins over white satin. She carried a bouquet of red long stem roses, greens and baby's breath.

Ann Marie Malm, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. She wore a tea length gown of red satin. Others attending the bride were Eileen Couchman, Lynn Steve and Karen Felts all friends of the bride. They wore gowns identical to the matron of honor's.

The groom wore a full dress white tuxedo with tails from the Pierre Cardin collection. He wore a boutonniere of red roses and baby's breath.

Dave Malm, brother-in-law of the groom served as best man. He wore a full dress black shawl tuxedo with a black bow tie and cummerbund by Pierre Cardin. Others attending the groom were Kevin Kelly, brother of the groom, Chip Nicholas, and Tom Weideman, both friends of the groom. All groomsmen wore tuxedos identical to the best man's.

The mother of the bride chose a pleated crepe tea length gown of light blue. The blouson top was sheer with long sleeves and a square collar made of matching lace.

The groom's mother chose a skirt and jacket of plum with a blouse to match, accented with a fashionable scarf around her neck.

Both mothers wore corsages of pink roses and baby's breath.

A reception for approximately 200 guests was held at the Knights of Columbus hall with dinner and dancing. Music was provided by the High Society Wise Guys.

The wedding cake was cut by Nicholle and Allison Baker, cousins of the bride.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's mother at the Arrowhead Inn.

The bride was honored at two showers; one given by Eileen Couchman and Karen Felts, and one given by Ann Malm and Peggy Anger.

The newlyweds traveled to San Diego, California, for their honeymoon.

The groom is an Operations Team Leader at Weyerhaeuser Company. The bride is employed by Georgia-Pacific Corporation as Credit Manager.

The couple reside in Grayling.

Luters brought her home and spent the weekend, also getting together with Jamie Cox, a friend of long standing. Eva bumped into Lois Collen in a grocery store in Englewood. Lois and her husband, Sam also wintered in Englewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold (Carolynn) Baker and David came from Sarasota, Florida, to honor her dad's birthday, Bud Halstead. They stayed with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Goltick.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwane Halstead and family came from Edgewood, Maryland, for his Dad's birthday. They stayed with his folks, while here they saw his children, Chris and Kelley Halstead.

Bud Halstead was honored at a 70th birthday party on June 4th, at the N.C.O. open mess. It was given by his children, grandchildren, and wife. There were many friends there that he has worked with and has known for the past 38 years. Before he left to go out to the party he got a phone call from another son, Leslie from Westchester, Col.

Mandi Stillwagon, Merry Meredith's daughter, has just graduated from Michigan State University with a nursing degree. They celebrated at the Officers Club with a small group of friends and relatives. Mandi will be staying with her mother here in Grayling for most of this summer before she pursues her nursing career.

Carol and Ken Money recently had a busy weekend throwing parties for two of their five children. Jenny just graduated from Grayling High School and Jack got married the next day. Jack married Michelle Barber of Grayling on Saturday June 11 and a reception was held at a local establishment. Their brother, Mike, traveled all the way from Colorado for the two day party.

Jack and Aggie Trudgeon

also had a double celebration with their daughter, Carrie, graduating on Friday and their daughter, Leesa, getting married to Gary Shepherd on Saturday.

I'm told that Nancy and Alfred Krey's daughter also got married this past weekend. Theresa Krey is now referred to as Mrs. Greg Gothro. A large reception was held on Saturday with friends and relatives from all over helping the Kreys and the Gothros celebrate.

That's all this week, keep calling with those bits of talk. My number is 348-7439 evenings.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON INCREASING PROPERTY TAXES

Please take notice that on June 22, 1988, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at the Middle School conference room the Board of Education of the Crawford AuSable School District will hold a public hearing on the levying in 1988 of an additional proposed millage rate of 3.1471 mills for operating purposes pursuant to Act 5, Public Act of Michigan, 1982.

The Board of Education has the complete authority to establish that 28.35 mills be levied in 1988 from within its present authorized millage rate.

The maximum additional proposed millage rate would increase revenues for operating purposes from ad valorem property tax levies in 1987 otherwise permitted by Act 5, Public Acts of Michigan, 1982, by fourteen and 51/100 percent (14.51 percent).

The purpose of the hearing is to receive testimony and discuss the levy of an additional millage rate. Not less than seven (7) days following the public hearing, the Board of Education may approve all or any portion of the proposed additional millage rate.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Nine Youth Specialists from Shawono Center recently completed a two-year in-service training program for child care workers in juvenile facilities in the State of Michigan and have become Certified Child Care Workers.

The newly certified Child Care Workers are employees of the Michigan Department of Social Services at Shawono Center, which is a Regional Training School of the Residential Care Division of the Department of Social Services.

Certificates were presented to Bill Campbell, Rick Chrisman, Jim McClain, Ralph Sheppard, Ron Seifert, Linda Sprague, Steve Talarico, Vern Uricek and Ron Waite on May 26. Presentations were made on the last day of class with Program Director, Fred Woelmer, present.

The Certified Child Care Workers training was provided by the Michigan Association of Children's Alliances (MACA) and is a two year in-service training program that provides an introduction to the psychology of Human Development, highlighting human growth independent of age and utilizes the theory and practice of developmental psychology as a basis for professionalizing the role of the Child Care Worker.

In addition to attending weekly classes participants in the training were required to do outside reading and writing assignments and got hands on experience with a theory by utilizing it on the job. Participants also spent blocks of time in other juvenile facilities, including Probate Court.

A Special Community Salute To Camp Grayling's Diamond Jubilee

Homecoming Week June 21-26 To Highlight Diamond Jubilee

Billed as Homecoming Week, the Camp Grayling Diamond Jubilee celebration June 21-26 will be one of the most action packed weeks in Grayling and Crawford County history.

On Tuesday June 21, the Diamond Reception will be held at the Maintenance and Equipment Training Site (MATES) on North Down River Road. Michigan Adjutant General Maj. Gen. Vernon J. Andrews will host the event along with other officials of the state Department of Military Affairs. That program will feature the 126th Michigan Guard Band playing popular music on the approaches to the main building complex while at the same time LaCroix will be playing on the inside, also for dancing pleasure. The reception begins at 6 p.m. and will continue until 9 p.m.

After the Diamond Reception, the scene will shift to Friday, June 24, and the main Camp Grayling location where the program will begin at 12 noon. Dr. Goodhart's Home Remedy, a three-piece group blending vocals with guitar, mandolin, fiddle, viola, bouzouki, pennywhistle, psaltery and harmonica, will be playing on the Parade Field.

The group has a repertoire of over 160 selections including American tradition, Irish, Cajun, folk, bluegrass, Mexican, country, gospel, jazz and swing. The group's musical performance is interwoven with a theme reminiscent of an update old time medicine show, including clogging, juggling, and hawking a few bottles of the Home Remedy.

At the same time around the fringes of the Parade field many static and action displays will be available for viewing by the audience. The static portion of the program includes cold weather survival, triage, new helicopters and guard equipment.

Action events will consist of parachute jumping, and a cavalry demonstration with sabre drills and military parade dressage, and at the Lake Margrethe waterfront near the Parade Field an engineering unit will demonstrate the building of a ribbon bridge. Both types of displays will continue throughout the day except during the Pass in Review of the Guard ceremony beginning at 2 p.m. and lasting until 4 p.m.

At an appropriate point in that pageantry, Governor James Blanchard, for whom traditionally the Pass in Review is held, will honor outstanding soldiers. At that time as well a historic marker will be dedicated honoring the land grant of the camp property by Rasmus Hanson. Local citizens 75 years old will also be identified carrying out the theme of the camp's 75 year history. A major keynote speaker, yet to be named will also address the audience.

The pomp and pageantry of the review itself should also be highlighted here since it has its own unique appeal to audiences down through the years. The cannon salutes to the governor and Adjutant General Maj. Gen. Vernon J. Andrews is followed by an inspection of the troops and then the colorful parade past the grand stand to the accompaniment of marching music played by the 126th National Guard Band.

The end of the review is really only the beginning of the program for the day as it will be followed immediately at 4 p.m. with music played by an aggregation in front of the Enlisted Men's Club facing the Parade Field. Maxton Bay, a musical trio which has gained a favorable reputation by presenting wholesome upbeat music will start things off by playing from 4-6 p.m. Their album "Road Home" is hot off the press.

A local group, the High Society Wise Guys will offer their renditions of a blend of contemporary rock beginning at 5:30 p.m. at the opposite end of the Parade Field. They will continue until 8 p.m.

A massive food service program will start at 5 p.m. when char broiled chicken dinners will be offered at four different locations on the Parade Field. The dinners will include half chicken, cole slaw, baked beans, roll and butter for $5.95. Hot dogs, chili dogs, kielbasa, soft drinks and coffee

Jerry Reed To Headline 75th Anniversary Entertainment

Singer, songwriter, actor and humorist Jerry Reed will perform during the Friday evening, June 24 program as a part of the Camp Grayling Diamond Jubilee Homecoming Week.

The 90-minute program will be without charge to the public through the courtesy of Camp Grayling Minuteman Foundation and the many financial contributors who made the program possible.

The Reed program consists of a little bit of country, R & B, blues, gospel, rock n' roll, jazz, and classical on the musical side while a good dose of picker, singer and humorist make up his personal side.

Born in Atlanta, Georgia, Jerry learned to play guitar at the age of eight when his mother bought him a two dollar guitar and showed him how to play a G-chord. That one chord started a love affair with guitars that has been going on for over forty years.

Working in the cotton mills by day and "gin mills" by night, Jerry's love of music caused him to drop out of high school in order to tour with Ernest Tubb and Faron Young. By this time, Jerry's unique guitar and vocal style had come to the attention of disc jockey and music publisher Bill Lowery who helped Jerry sign his first recording contract with Capitol Records at seventeen years old.

Soon after moving to Nashville, Jerry caught the eye and ear of Chet Atkins. Jerry's first album, which was produced by Chet and entitled "The Unbelievable Guitar and Voice of Jerry Reed" is a classic. Elvis Presley soon caught wind of this new talent and recorded two of Jerry's songs, "US Male" and "Guitar Man."

Though this period, Jerry worked the "Festival of Music" concert tour with Chet, Floyd Cramer and Boots Randolph. While working that tour, Chet introduced Jerry to another guitar addict from Arkansas named Glen Campbell. Through this meeting, Jerry eventually became a regular on Campbell's highly rated television show, "The Goodtime Hour".

Jerry's first chance at national exposure generated a string of hits that included "Amos Moses" and "When you're Hot, You're Hot." All the while, other artists were attracted to his songwriting skills. Johnny Cash had a number one hit with "A Thing Called Love" and other artists such as Brenda Lee, Tom Jones, Dean Martin, Nat King Cole, The Oak Ridge Boys and many others recorded songs written by Jerry.

Also during this time, Jerry's touring schedule included over 200 dates annually and was soon regarded as a concert "headliner" and

Trains and Horses Marked Camp Grayling's Early Years

Camp Grayling, the training grounds of the Michigan National Guard, is considered one of the finest military reservations in the country. It is also among the oldest, first established in 1913.

The first land for the camp was donated to the State of Michigan in 1913 by Rasmus Hanson, a Grayling resident who lumbered large sections of land in Crawford County. At that time, three sites were under consideration by the state military board; they were: Holland, Ludington and Grayling. Grayling was chosen for a number of reasons, primarily its central location, area topography, and cost of the land (free).

The camp was first known as Camp Ferris, in honor of Woodbridge N. Ferris, then Governor of Michigan. It covered an area of 12,920 acres and was located southwest of Grayling, along the south and west shores of Lake Margrethe.

Between 1918 and 1921 some land for artillery ranges was bought. Other land has been acquired so that now approximately 150,000 acres are either leased or owned by the Military.

A contingent of engineers arrived for work in 1913. The first troops trained here in 1914. At first only one regiment of 1,000 men was stationed at the camp at one time. In 1915 two regiments of 2,000 men arrived for work and training.

Early guardsmen arrived on trains from southern Michigan, on what was then the Michigan Central Railroad.

One of the first buildings built on the grounds was the Commander's or Superintendent's residence, which was begun in 1913 and completed in 1914. A warehouse, 40' x 150' in size, was completed in 1914. In 1946 it was destroyed by fire. The Officer's Club was a gift from Rasmus Hanson in 1917. In 1917 a power plant, reservoir, hospital, warehouse, administration building, and 60 messhalls were constructed. Numerous horse barns were built in different areas of the camp.

In 1923 the small arms ammunition building and in 1933 the animal shelter were destroyed by fire. The wind demolished 12 messhalls in 1920, and in 1952-53, 500 tents were destroyed.

During this period the New York Central bought out the Michigan Central Railroad. A railroad spur into Camp Grayling proper was built, with their own railroad station called Rasmus Station. The spur and depot no longer exist today.

Pumps operated by gasoline engines were used in 1916 to supply the camp with drinking water. There was a 30,000 gallon reservoir in use too. An additional pumping station, with two 6-inch wells, having a 150-gallon per minute capacity, was in use in 1928, along with a reservoir with a 50,000 gallon capacity. The last two pumping stations were built in 1949 and 1950, along with a 500,000-gallon reservoir. Two gasoline generators have been held in reserve in case of power failure.

The first water and sewer lines at the main camp were started in 1928 and completed in 1929. For the disposal of sewage there was installed a system of troughs which spread the sewage over an area which must be kept free of weeds and grass.

General supplies and military equipment, such as guns and cannons, came by railroad from home stations in the earlier years. Tanks were first brought into the camp in 1948. Nearly all types of live ammunition used in regular military training camps have been used at Camp Grayling.

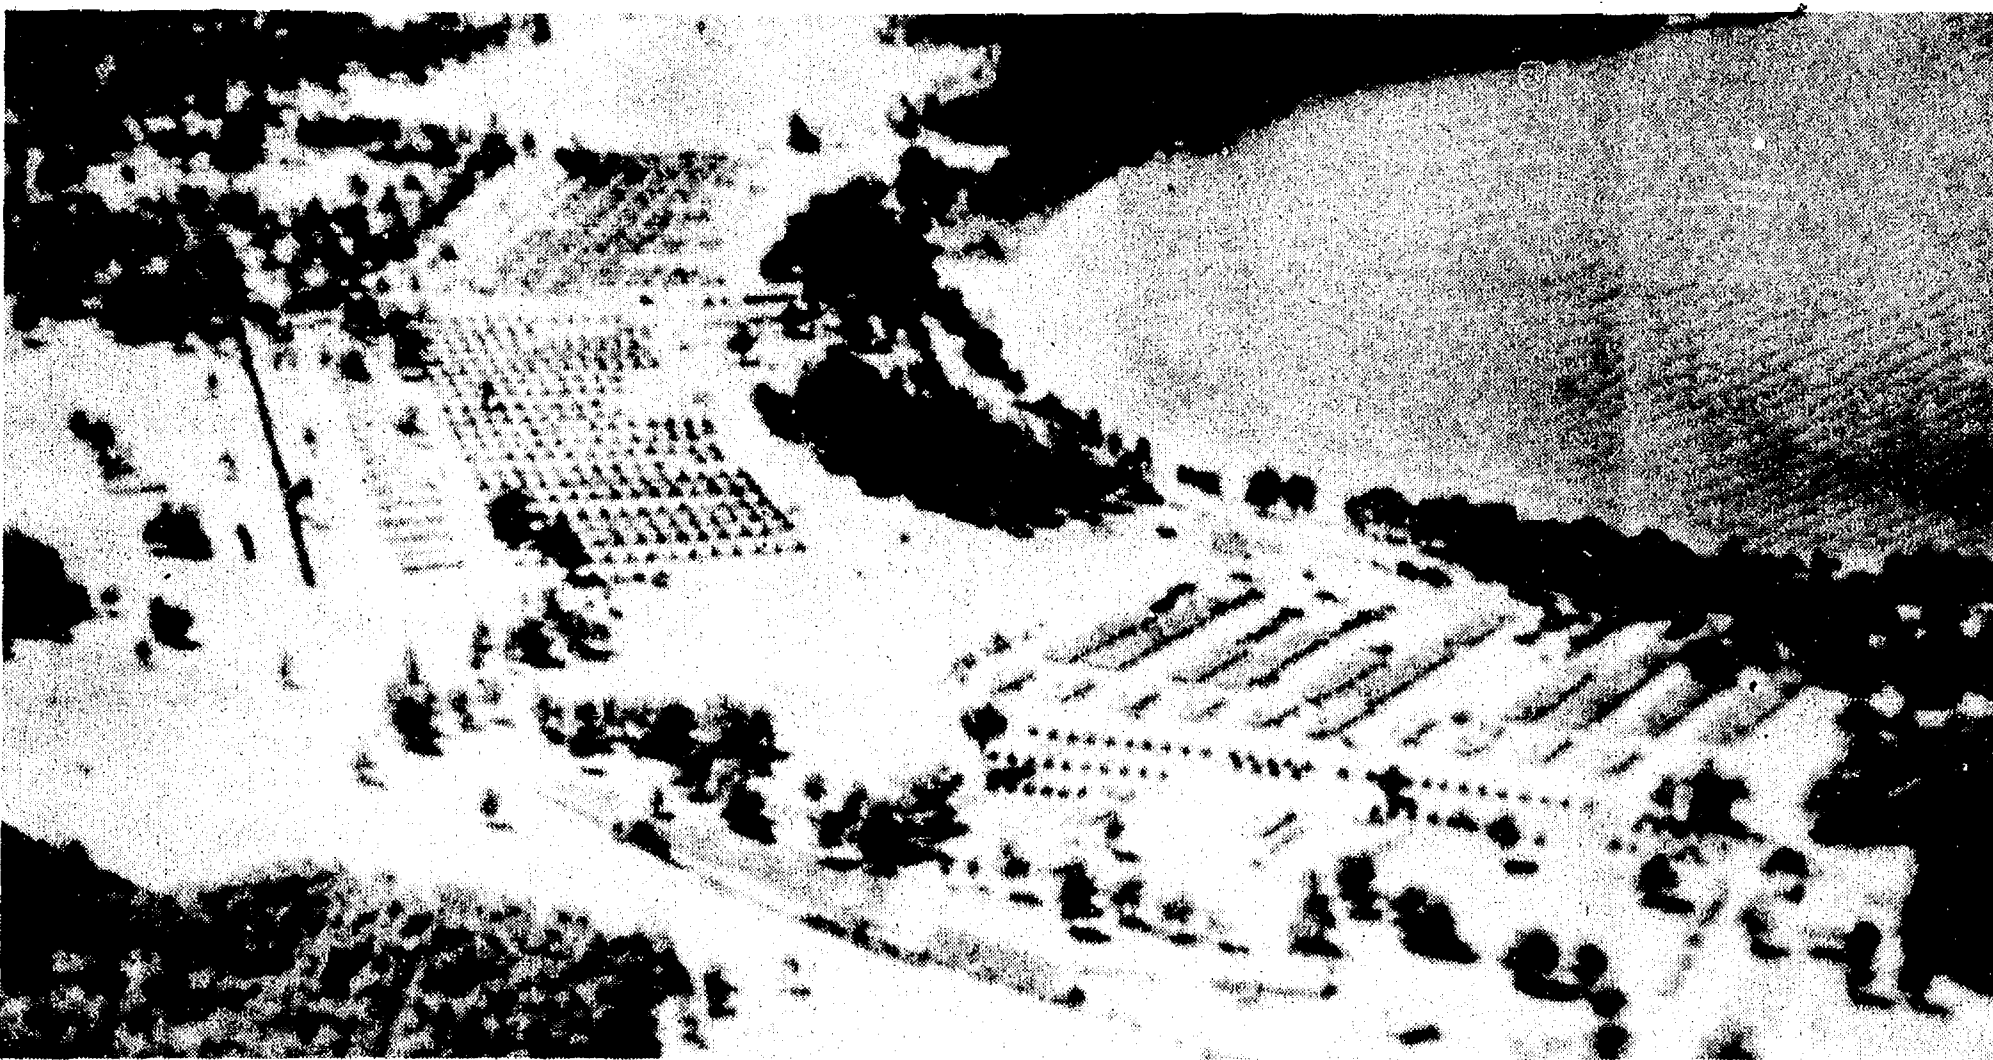

The cavalry became a part of the National Guard in 1916 and was last used in 1932. The horses used were Government owned, and were purchased and cared for at home station armories. In 1933 the entire camp was motorized and all horses were taken away.

Artillery units marched from Detroit to Camp Grayling for training, bringing tractors and field pieces with them. (The date is believed to be about 1925.) After the training period had ended in 1933, the 119th Field Artillery and horses marched from Camp Grayling to Lansing. This was a 16-day march. In 1960, 1961, and 1962 troops were flown into the airport and marched from there to Camp Grayling.

In 1927-1928 the National Guard Air Squadron at Detroit needed training space. For this purpose the Grayling airport was first constructed. At first runways were short and made of sand. In 1942 barracks and a PX were erected, and a control tower and fire department were added. The airport was enlarged and further work on it completed in 1943. To facilitate tank movement the training area the tank maintenance shop was moved from Camp Grayling to the airport in 1960. During World War II years the Federal Government took over the airport.

Superintendents of Camp Grayling in chronological order have been: Captain Willard Case, of Owosso; Henry Baumgras, who died in 1931 and was only a seasonal or summer Superintendent; George A. Schaible, Sr., who served from 1918 to 1958 and then retired; Billy Jim Kinkenter, 1958-1967, Colonel Edmund Rutkowski, 1967-1978, Colonel J.R. Lippert, 1978-1980, Colonel Ivan Gwilt, 1980-1985, and Colonel Richard Schmidt, 1985 to present.

Rasmus Hanson

The man who donated 16,000 acres of land to the Michigan National Guard in 1913 for the "training of the militia" was a Danish immigrant who made a fortune in the White Pine forests near Grayling, Michigan.

Rasmus Hanson was born at Vester Kippinge, Falster, Denmark on the 14th of October, 1846. He attended the common schools until he was fourteen years of age and then was confirmed in the Lutheran Church. After a short spell as a sutler in a border scrimmage between Denmark and the German Confederacy in 1863, he emigrated to America with his father and landed in New York on the 15th of May in 1865, just as America's War Between the States was ending.

The Hansons first traveled to Racine, Wisconsin where they worked in the lumber camps. Within a year he moved to Manistee, Michigan where he worked for a Mr. B. Sweet on a Lake Michigan wharf, marketing Michigan timber. He soon worked up to the position of foreman and in 1867, having accumulated some money, bought into the firm of Salling Lumber Company. He remained with Mr. Ernest B. Salling until 1871 as a timber cruiser and woods boss. In 1873, he formed his own lumber company, R. Hanson and Company. In 1878, Salling and Hanson merged their companies and moved to Grayling, Michigan where they built a hardwood mill. This association remained together until Mr. Rasmus Hanson died on 27 October 1929.

Mr. Rasmus Hanson was quite active in the Republican Party and was a member of the Michigan Electoral College in 1896. He was also the first county treasurer of Crawford County in 1880.

Rasmus Hanson's experiences as a very young man in the Danish-German border war in 1863 left a lasting impression of the need for a strong and well trained military. Early in 1913, he approached the Adjutant General of Michigan, Maj. Gen. Roy C.

Vandercook and Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris and offered 16,000 acres of land surrounding what was then known as Portage Lake to the State of Michigan for use as a military training site and game preserve. The Michigan Legislature accepted this land with Public Act 172 of the Public Acts of 1913.

In 1917, Rasmus Hanson built and presented to the Michigan National Guard the Camp Grayling Officer's Club as a token of his appreciation to the Michigan National Guard for their services on the Mexican Border Campaign and World War I. The Michigan State Military Board accepted the gift with a Resolution to Mr. Hanson that was promulgated on 2 September 1917.

Whereas, Mr. Rasmus Hanson of Grayling, Michigan, has seen fit to present to the State of Michigan a military reservation and game refuge known as the Hanson State Military Reservation, and

Whereas, in this present emergency, Mr. Hanson as evidence of his patriotic desire to "do his bit," has erected upon the Hanson State Military Reservation a handsome clubhouse for the use and benefit of the officers of the Michigan National Guard, and in so doing has testified to his sturdy adherence to American principles and his confidence in the supremacy of our American citizenship.

Therefore, be it resolved that the State Military Board express by this means its most sincere appreciation of the gift of Mr. Hanson and the motives which prompted it.

After Rasmus Hanson had established himself in Michigan, he sent for his intended bride from Denmark and married her on 17 September 1867. Five children issued from this union, Mrs. Matilda Bauman, Mrs. J.S. Graham and Thorvald, Esbern and Oscar Hanson. Portage Lake was later renamed Lake Margrethe in honor of Mrs. Margrethe Hanson.

By Maj. Michael H. Johnson

What is Camp Grayling?

Camp Grayling, located at Grayling, Michigan, is approximately 200 miles north of Detroit. Rasmus Hanson, a local lumberman, donated the first land to the State of Michigan in 1913. The camp was originally named Camp Ferris in honor of Woodbridge N. Ferris, who was Governor of Michigan at that time. It covered an area of 12,920 acres southwest of Grayling on the south and west shores of Lake Margrethe.

The Michigan National Guard was activated in June of 1916, at Camp Grayling for Federal duty and sent immediately to El Paso, Texas for patrol duty along the Mexican border.

In 1962, Camp Grayling was reorganized and the Camp Commander became directly responsible to the Quartermaster General of Michigan. A total of 54 enlisted and 17 officer bath-houses were constructed at main camp and the airport.

During 1963-1964, a building was constructed to house the new telephone system. A pump house, 118 concrete tent floors, and several quonset huts were erected at Camp Grayling and the airfield.

The new Enlisted Men's Club was completed in 1967 and was named for MG C.J. Kennedy, the former 46th Infantry Division Commander.

Camp Grayling is divided into five geographical areas: 1. Main Camp: The cantonment area on Lake Margrethe. 2. South Camp: The small arms ranges and infantry maneuver area. 3. North Camp: The artillery and tank ranges. 4. Grayling Army Airfield. 5. Mobilization and Training Equipment Sites (MATES).

The Camp can accommodate an entire combat arms division at one time. The terrain is mostly level with some rolling hills. Vegetation varies from open spaces to sparsely wooded to densely wooded. The soil is sandy and there are several small lakes and one large lake, Lake Margrethe.

MAIN CAMP:

The main camp has more than a mile of frontage on beautiful Lake Margrethe.

For winter training purposes, the camp has heated barracks, heated messhalls, heated Company Administrative/Supply buildings and heated Battalion Headquarters buildings.

Camp Grayling had excellent athletic facilities which include lighted softball diamonds, basketball and tennis courts, and a very fine beach on Lake Margrethe. The Post Exchange complex includes a department store, a barber shop, a beverage store and a snack bar.

SOUTH CAMP:

The 81,640 acre area contains most of the small arms ranges, the mortar range, and the platoon and squad ranges.

Most of the infantry training takes place here, due to the excellent variation of terrain (level valleys, rolling and medium height hills, open and dense foliage, etc.) These features also make this area the prime winter training area, especially for ski training.

NORTH CAMP:

The north camp contains the tank, helicopter, Air National Guard air to ground, and artillery/mortar ranges.

Miller Drop Zone (a 200 acre parachute drop zone) is located near the center of this area to facilitate ranger and special forces training. This area is, of course, off limits to all tracked vehicles.

The Air National Guard from many states utilize the air to ground range located in the artillery/mortar impact area on a year-round basis. The planes are staged from Captain Phelps Collins Air National Guard Base at Alpena, Mi 46 miles to the northeast.

GRAYLING ARMY AIRFIELD:

Grayling Army Airfield consists of 873 acres and is located 5.5 miles northeast of the main cantonment area, on the north edge of the City of Grayling.

MOBILIZATION AND TRAINING EQUIPMENT SITE (MATES):

The MATES, located northeast of Grayling, is responsible for receiving, storing, maintaining and issuing the vehicles and equipment used at Camp Grayling during weekend and annual training periods.

MISSION AND COMMAND OF CAMP GRAYLING:

The mission of Camp Grayling is to provide the Adjutant General of Michigan with the personnel and equipment necessary to provide the training, administrative and logistical support to units training at the camp, and to provide year-round maintenance and operation of Camp Grayling.

Homecoming Week June 21-26

will also be available at the dining tents.

During all of the festivities, the static and action demonstrations will continue until the main show that evening. At 8:30 p.m. singer, songwriter, guitar player, actor and humorist Jerry Reed will entertain until 10 p.m. (See Jerry Reed article in this section.)

Following the Reed show, one of the largest fireworks displays to be seen in the north country will light up the sky over Lake Margrethe to close out the evening's program.

On Saturday, June 25 the static and action displays will be available at the camp from 10 a.m. until noon and at that point the focus of attention will shift to downtown Grayling. At 1 p.m. in the Grayling City Park, a Chippewa Indian Tribe will demonstrate many of the traditional dances and activities. They have, however, promised not to hold a rain dance due to the outdoor nature of the remaining portions of the program.

Street entertainment kicks off at 3 p.m. when Magician Dave Hallin will amaze the audience until 4 p.m. At the same time, just down the street on Michigan Ave., Pat and Bill Tronmater will be holding forth with their brand of folk music. Also starting at 3 p.m. but continuing until 7 p.m. at still another location on Michigan Avenue will be the Oakland University Mimes.

Stepping into the limelight at 4 p.m. will be Borkowski and Rosochacki, a folk-rock duo who have entertained Detroit audiences for a number of years. As one brand of entertainment leaves one of the stages, another steps in to replace it, as is evident in another transition when the local group, Slightly Less Than Original Dixieland Band plays from 5-7 p.m. From 5-6 p.m. the Madd Juggler steps into the spotlight on one stage while Kitty Donohoe will entertain on another with stories and songs of Michigan history and the lumbering era.

At 6 p.m. Sweet Adelines quartet will blend their voices to close out the street features. The entertainment will continue just down the road, however, when the American Legion Beer tent opens at 8 p.m. A polka band will be on hand there to keep the party in full swing until the late hours.

Merchants will be participating in the program with sidewalk sales all day.

The Homecoming Week will be topped off on Sunday morning, June 26 when the Freedom of Religion service begins at 7:30 a.m. Area clergy and Michigan National Guard chaplains will conduct services and the Community Choir under the direction of Peggy Emerick will contribute to the worship. The 126th Michigan National Guard Band will be on hand and a keynote speaker yet to be named will add his voice to the concluding program.

For one of the few times in history, Camp Grayling will be considered a closed camp for the occasion. There will be no cars allowed at the main camp for the weekend festivities. Cars will be directed to the Airport north of Grayling for parking. They are asked to enter at the road off Old 27 which serves as the access to the old MATES facility. Shuttle busses will be running continuously from that location to the main camp.

It should be noted that organizers of the Diamond Reception scheduled for Tuesday, June 21 realize that proper attire for such an occasion is always a question. They have indicated that ladies should wear dresses or dress slacks while the men should be attired in suits or sport coats, slacks, shirts and ties. Military personnel have been requested to wear Class "B" uniforms.

The entire affair is open to the public without charge except for the food services on Friday evening.

The week is called Homecoming because the affair welcomes not only the present guard members but those retired and their families. Also invited are citizens from the surrounding communities who have worked with, cooperated with and welcomed the guard into the community for all of the years that Camp Grayling has been in existence.

Salute To The National Guard

Some call them "Weekend Warriors"
Look at them with eyes so hard
You may wonder why they continue to serve
Those people of the National Guard

In times of peace it's easy
To forget the hell of war.
The death and destruction it can bring
Should it someday reach our shore

They train for war and pray for peace
The Citizen Soldiers some disdain
Some complain about their loss of sleep
When the National Guard comes here to train

But, if disaster struck tonight
Be it fire, flood or storm
They would find the Guard was ready
To keep them sheltered, fed and warm

For they also serve in times of peace
As well as in time of war
When people are needed to serve our needs

They are always in the fore
They are well trained soldiers
Part of our nation's defense plan
We'll be mighty glad we have them
If the excrement hits the fan

We hope we never need them
They just serve to keep the peace
But that's a lot like hoping
The greed of man will cease

They are willing, trained and ready
To serve if the need should arise
To defend their flag and country
Or the freedom we all prize

They may disturb your sleep tonight
When their mighty cannons roar
But the skills they perfect tonight
May someday turn the tide of war

They spend their days knowing
They could be called at any time
To serve their country in time of need
To lay their lives upon the line

So, if their guns wake you up tonight
Even in the small, wee hours
You'll know they are training hard
To protect this land of ours

Instead of cursing, we should bless them
These troops training so hard
For they serve us and our country
The members of the National Guard.

as one of the best entertainers in the music business. With a blend of good music, down home humor and some outstanding musicianship, Jerry was soon labeled "The Entertainer" by both his peers and a throng of fans in both the US and Europe.

During the mid-70's, Jerry began his now famous association with the movies. Box office hits like "Smokey and the Bandit" made Jerry a household name. Also, the hits kept rolling out with "Eastbound and Down", "The Bird" and the million-selling "She Got the Goldmine, I Got the Shaft".

Currently, Jerry is back to touring after a four month hiatus for the filming of his upcoming 1988 movie release "BAT-21" starring Gene Hackman and Danny Glover as well as Jerry. "After four months in the Malaysian jungles in the middle of Summer, I definitely looked forward to getting back on the road. Entertaining is my love, and as long as there is a demand for me in concert, I'll keep touring."

The Jerry Reed Show will take place on the Parade Field at Camp Grayling at 8:30 p.m. Friday, June 24. Sponsors remind persons planning on attending that all cars must be parked at the Grayling Airport old MATES entrance. Shuttle buses will run continuously to the camp.

Local Donors Help Support Minuteman Foundation

Unheralded in all of the activity generated by the celebration of the Camp Grayling Diamond Jubilee events has been the work of its Minuteman Foundation and the donations by business, industry and individuals that will make all of the fun possible.

Early this year a group of citizens began meeting in the conference room at the Grayling State Bank to devote themselves to raising the funds necessary for the summer long program. At the same time, Joe O'Connor, president of the Consumer Market Analysis Company, who is responsible for drawing up the initial plans for the celebration, has contacted many large firms for donations.

Locally about $16,000 has been raised according to foundation members. They point out, however, that big name entertainment and major projects being planned will require significant funds.

Major donors thus far include: Grayling Promotional Association, $100, Edgar Boettcher Mason Contractor Inc., $250, Cornell Insurance, $100, Lt. Col. Garland and Jeanne Joyce, $100, Moore's Automotive, $100, Chief Shoppenagons, $100, Ralph Routier, $100, Holiday Inn, $100, and Kmart, $100.

Other major donors are Mac's Drugs, $100, Hospitality House, $100, Fabiano Brothers, $150, Stephan Wood Products, $150, Grayling Restaurant, $100, Grayling Lions Club, $100, Half Price Outlet, $100, Warblers Way Inn, $100, Georgia Pacific Resin Plant, $500, Custom Forest Products, $100, and the Cheerful Givers of Lovells, $100.

At the same time that the Wurtsmith Credit Union donated $500, they challenged the other financial institutions in the area to match the gift. Before the challenge could be announced, Grayling State Bank, Chemical Bank North and Old Kent Bank of Gaylord, Grayling Branch had already matched or exceeded the challenge amount.

In addition to the financial assistance, individuals or companies have donated labor and services. The foundation has paid special recognition thus far to Glen's Market for furnishing gas for the next three years for the Memorial Flame, Curt Jansen, fixing burner unit for the flame and donating timer, Camp Grayling Officer's Club, General's Reception and Robert Ruddy, Historical Society work.

Other donors include: Shannon McNamara, Flowers by Josie, Myers Land Survey Company and Rochette's IGA. Donations have also been received from Grayling Glass, Harrison Goodhue, R & T Janitorial, Inc., Borchers Canoe Livery, Little Caesars, Allen Schreiner, Terry's Sport Center, Inc., Terry's Union 76, Crawford County Avalanche, McLean's Hardware and Ralph Ostling.

Donations have also been made by Advanced Business Machines, The Outpost, R & H Sports, Tom and Marion Welsh, Marie Post, Delights and Barbara and Joe White. Other donors include North Country Lodge, Aubrey Welsh, Hubbard's Barber Shop, Pineview Surplus, Showtime Video and Al Bennett Ford.

Parking Banned for Camp Grayling Homecoming

Officials for the Camp Grayling Homecoming celebration are stressing the fact that there will be no parking at the camp on either Friday June 24 or Saturday, June 25.

Arrangements have been made for visitors to park at the old Mobilization and Equipment Training Site north of Grayling at the south edge of the airport. The access road can be reached off Old 27 and shuttle busses will be on hand to take the guests to the camp.

The closed camp is necessary, officials say, because of the enormous traffic jam that could occur if vehicles were to be allowed. They point out that many busses have been obtained for the shuttle program and there should be prompt transportation to the camp.

It has also been announced that visitors will not be permitted to bring alcoholic beverages on camp property. Extra law enforcement personnel will be on hand to enforce the ban as well as handle any other matter demanding their attention.

$500 CHECK AND CHALLENGE ISSUED — Wurtsmith Credit Union Branch Manager Ron Fiebelkorn presented a $500 check to Jack Alef, Chairman of the Camp Grayling Area Minuteman Foundation, for the 75th Diamond Jubilee Celebration. Fiebelkorn and the staff of the Wurtsmith Credit Union issued a challenge to all other banks in Grayling to match their contribution of $500.

For the last 75 years, the men and women who train at Camp Grayling have been ready and willing to serve their country, and many have answered our country's call.

We pay tribute to their Dedication and wish the best of success to the 75th Diamond Jubilee Celebration for Camp Grayling this summer.

The Bible Speaks

From Calvary Baptist Church

The Gospel of John Part No. 37

The Growing Conflict
From chapter No. 7 of John until His crucifixion, we observe the growing conflict of Jesus Christ with the world around him. The Jewish religious leaders sought to kill Him, (John 7:1), and for this reason he ministered in gentile Galilee to His closest disciples.

Now was the Feast of Tabernacles requiring all Jewish males to attend at Jerusalem. (John 7:2, Leviticus 23:34-35; and Deut. 16:16). The four half-brothers (Mark 6:3) of Jesus desired Him to go to the feast with them and perform miracles openly in Judea and prove to the world if He was who He claimed to be. (John 7:3,4). His own half-brothers did not yet believe in Him. "For neither did his brethren believe in him." (John 7:5). Jesus reminded His half-brothers that He was on a different time table, (John 7:6), and faced a different temperament from the world than they did. "The world cannot hate you; but me it hateth, because I testify of it, that the works thereof are evil." (John 7:7). Even God in human flesh cannot reprove the world of evil works without being hated and rejected by it. Therefore Jesus sent His half-brothers ahead, and He traveled later, alone, and in secret. (John 7:8-10).

At the feast in Jerusalem, the Jews or religious leaders were searching for Jesus. (John 7:11). They knew He would be there in obedience to the law, and they wanted to kill Him when they had an opportunity. The response of the people was the same as today. "And there was much murmuring among the people concerning him: for some said, He is a good man; others said, Nay; but he deceiveth the people." (John 7:12). Just as He had brought division into the Jewish religious leadership, and His own family, so also, He brought division among the people. Most non-Christians today view Jesus Christ as either a good man or a deceiver. Jesus Christ refused to be called good unless you call Him God. To the rich young ruler who called Him "God master" He replied, "Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, that is God..." (Matt. 19:17). Jesus was saying, you can only call me good if you call me God.

If Jesus Christ was not God, the Jews were right for killing Him as the worst blasphemer, deceiver, and liar that ever lived. (John 5:16,18). Jesus Christ was either eternal God or an egocentric fool. You cannot be neutral about Him. You either love and worship Him as God, or you must hate and despise Him as the vilest of human beings. As religious leaders spread prejudice, unbelief, and fear concerning Jesus Christ as God, we know false religion has not changed. (John 7:13). (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

The Deacon's Speakin'

Deacon Bob Nolan

Scripture Reference:
Mark 4:35-41

To reduce the calming of the sea to something purely natural, we have to imagine and say that the storm stopped of its own accord at the moment when Jesus commanded the sea - and this He did by chance. There is a thought that calls itself scientific and refuses from the start to accept any possible intervention of God in the world. And so, certain facts are explained by its strange faith in fate. It is rather easy to train oneself in this type of thinking.

The concern of the young Church is to show that Jesus has the same power over nature as God the Father has and to lead believers to have faith in Jesus who rose from the dead and Who is capable of facing every kind of adversity.

Teacher, doesn't it matter to you that we are going to drown? These words addressed to Jesus show the struggle that exists between the panic of the disciples and the calm of the Master. On the one hand, there is the dangerous squall; on the other, the sleep of Jesus. The lake of Genesareth is familiar with sudden and fearsome storms.

Their boat is caught in one of these storms. It is understandable that Jesus, exhausted by a whole day of preaching, falls sound asleep. The disciples do not understand how the sound of the wind and the waves fail to wake Jesus. They do not realize that the mere presence of Jesus with them is sufficient for their security.

Are they wrong in waking Him? Definitely not. They react the way any normal person would act. Their weakness is in not putting their security in the Person of Jesus. We all have times when we are scared and frightened. We are not doing wrong in calling to God for help - for waking Him. We are human and we are not always in control of what is happening around us. But we do need to try and remember that Jesus is with us; this can reassure our deepest self.

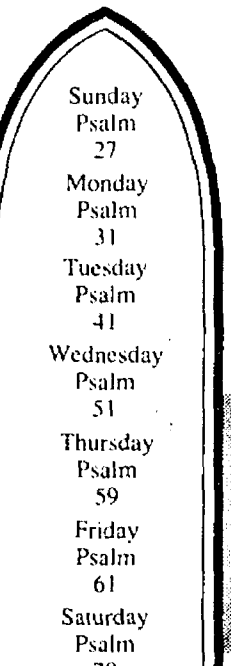

The thought of the boat in the storm brings to my mind the image of the Church. In our time as in all Christian times, the Church resembles a boat that is violently attacked and shaken by errors and persecutions. It even seems at times that the Church may accept some of the errors. The waves were breaking over the boat and began to take on water badly.

This is perhaps the cause of the anguish of Christ's best disciples. Remember that one word of the Lord, at the moment He has chosen, will save the Church. He said, 'Quiet. Be still!' The wind fell off and everything grew calm. We must merely keep our faith alive and strong. Why are you lacking in faith?

What Makes A Father?

It takes more than the birth of a child to make a father. Something miraculous happens when a man realizes he is really a father. It may happen when he holds the baby in his arms for the first time or when he sees its first radiant smile. Suddenly, a man realizes that he is responsible for another human life. He knows that the kind of person he is will determine the kind of person his son or daughter will become. The values that he holds become more important than ever.

It is often at this point in life, that many men seek to re-establish their religious affiliation for they need the guidance of their church more than ever. Whether you're a new father or one of long standing, attend the church or synagogue of your choice this week. It will make you a better father.

GARDEN

Periwinkle Well Suited for Partial Shade Area

Difficult areas in the yard where grass won't establish may be better suited for growing one of the ground covers, such as periwinkle. Periwinkle is a good choice as a ground cover to use under trees and around buildings where there is partial shade. This plant has dark green leaves and grows rapidly. It spreads by creeping roots that will blanket a large plot in short order. It should be planted nine plants to the square yard. It prefers partial shade and does poorly in heavy shade. "Periwinkle blue" flowering are borne in the spring and sometimes in the fall. There are other varieties with white, purple and light blue flowers. At least one has purple flowers that are double. A variegated variety of periwinkle has leaves with creamy white borders.

Dividing and Resetting Irises
Irises can be moved at any convenient time, but many growers prefer to do it a month or six weeks after they bloom. Plant rhizomes in well-drained sunny beds. In light, sandy soil the irises should be left with the tops of the rhizomes exposed.

The announcements on radio and TV remind us that Michigan produces many of the things we eat. Aside from meat, produce and dairy products, there are many specialty foods with which we may not be familiar.

For example, from a Mancelona company comes smoked rainbow trout pate, smoked turkey breast, cornish game hens and pheasant. A restaurant in East Lansing became so well known for its low-sodium, no preservative soups that it now cans the soups and they are available everywhere. An Ortonville farm offers range-fed ring-necked pheasant and range hens. From Ellsworth come gourmet quality preserves, butters, toppings and chocolate covered fruit. In Cheboygan a dairy makes old-fashioned fresh churned sour cream butter like grandma used to make.

In Harbor Springs, extraordinary jams, jellies and relishes are made from northland fruits, berries and vegetables. A Petoskey store supplies us with whitefish caviar, plum catsup and thimbleberry jam. In Frankfort we can purchase dried Michigan tart cherries directly from the processor. A Shelby dairy produces an aged goat milk cheese. In Paradise a fishery provides the catch of the day from the cold waters of Lake Superior. Isheming gives us a selection of pickled products, all natural, no preservatives. A Chelsea farm provides spiral-sliced, maple sugar and honey-glazed ham and smoked turkeys.

Buffalo meat, which is higher in protein and lower in fat than beef, is available in Traverse City. In Cedar, a new cherry pecan sausage is now being made. Parma offers 350 varieties of herb plants and has fresh-cut herbs year around, as well as flavored vinegars, such as Chive Blossom. A Marquette company prepares a fruitcake that contains no candied fruit or preservatives, but uses raisins, pineapple, dates, pecans, toasted almonds and hazelnuts, fresh butter and eggs. Then there are Michigan wines from Kalamazoo, Paw Paw, Berrien Springs, Dundee, Suttons Bay, Omena, Leelanau Peninsula, Traverse City and Holly. Say Yes! to Michigan.

Serve your guests an unforgettable dessert that is easy to prepare and can be done several days in advance, if desired. Bake or buy cream puff shells. (Your local bakery will sell you unfilled shells). Fill them with toasted butter pecan ice cream and store them in the freezer, well wrapped. When ready to serve, top them with warm caramel sauce. Absolutely irresistible! Do not ask the calorie content!

Toasted Butter Pecan Ice Cream

- 1/2 c. coarsely chopped pecans
- 1/4 c. sugar
- 1 tbsp butter or margarine (If you like more nuts, these 3 items can be doubled)
- 2 c. light cream
- 1 c. brown sugar
- 2 tsp vanilla
- 2 c. whipping cream

Combine pecans, sugar and butter in skillet and stir constantly over medium heat until sugar melts and turns a rich brown. Spread on foil and when cool, break into small chunks. Combine light cream, brown sugar and vanilla; stir until sugar is dissolved. Add nuts and whipping cream and freeze in ice cream freezer. Makes 1 1/2 quarts.

Caramel Sauce

- 1 1/2 c. packed brown sugar
- 1 tsp cornstarch
- 1 c. light cream
- 2 tsp butter or margarine

Combine sugar and cornstarch in saucepan. Add cream and butter and cook and stir until mixture boils. Reduce heat and simmer 8-10 minutes, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens. Serve warm over puffs. Makes 1 3/4 cups.

If you have not made puff shells, they are very easy to make and handy to have in the freezer. Combine 1/2 cup water and 1/4 cup butter or margarine in saucepan and bring to boil. Add 1/2 cup flour and 1/8 teaspoon salt, all at once, and stir vigorously. Cook and stir until mixture forms a ball and leaves the side of the pan. Cool about five minutes. Add 2 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Drop by tablespoon onto greased baking sheet and bake about 30 minutes at 400 degrees. Cool. Slice off about the top 1/3 of the puff and remove any soft dough inside. Fill with ice cream, freeze on a baking sheet, then wrap separately and store in freezer.

Verse or Worse

By Joseph D. Murphy

Flowers for my Mary

I was driving down a country road
One hot and humid day,
When I came upon an old man walking,
Using canes to make his way.

He was struggling up a little hill
When I pulled up by his side.
I said, "It's a hot day to be walking,
Can I offer you a ride."

He climbed in beside me,
Saying, "I sure thank you, son.
I don't know if I could have made it -
Out in that blazing sun."

He carried a paper bag in his hand
Which he handled with loving care.
I asked where he was going,
Saying I'd be glad to take him there.

He said, he was going to the church yard
Another mile up the way -
Taking flowers to his Mary's grave,
Which he did every day.

He said, in the sixty years they had together,
Before the Lord called her away,
If he could find flowers anywhere,
He had brought her flowers every day.

Said, his Mary had loved flowers -
Had planted plenty in their yard.
He still took her flowers every day,
Thought it was getting mighty hard.

I won't be able to make it much longer.
It gets tougher day by day.
To take the flowers to my Mary
But I'll soon go there to stay.

They'll lay me down beside by Mary
To await the judgment day,
Then we'll stroll through Heaven's gardens
Where I'll pick her flowers every day.

The Marine Safety Act (Act 303 of 1967) sets forth requirements for the use of water craft within the state of Michigan. Among its provisions are safety equipment, safety training, rules of the road and registration requirements.

The AuSable river boat, which is unique to this area, must comply with the Marine Safety Act as does any other type of vessel. That is, if it is over 16 feet in length it must be registered. If it is motorized, it must be registered, or if it is used for commercial purposes it must be registered.

The law also requires that the registration certificate be on board and that the registration numbers and validating decal be displayed on the forward half of the vessel.

NOTE: The 1988 ORV registration certificates expired on April 30. New registrations are available and must be obtained before you operate your ORV.

From RR Icehouse to Northern Needlework Center

By Irene Pettyjohn

The Icehouse has been a Grayling landmark since the earliest railroad days. It was built adjacent to the Pennsylvania Central Railroad, and was specially constructed so that it could bear the heavy load of ice, and insulate it from the heat. Its foundation is deep and wide, and the walls are thick with five layers of wood and tar paper. The upper story floor has closely spaced support beams. These beams are 4 x 12's spaced 12 inches apart. They are covered with tin to form the upper level "ice floor." The ice floor sloped to the center of the building so that water from the melted ice could flow to a vertical drain and empty onto the ground.

Ice from nearby lakes was cut into blocks, transported to the icehouse, and stored for use during the warm seasons, primarily to preserve food.

The railroad owned the icehouse, and the ice was used on the railroad dining cars.

As refrigeration equipment was invented, and automobile transportation replaced traveling by train, the original purpose of the icehouse became obsolete.

Subsequently, the building was used to store feed, beer, and building materials. In the 1930's Rasmusson Lumber leased the building from the railroad and utilized it as a warehouse. This use continued by DuBois Lumber until 1980, when the present owner, Dave Wyman, decided to remodel the old icehouse into a retail store. After months of extensive remodeling, The Icehouse opened in June 1980, as a retail business. In the fall of 1984 The Icehouse was connected to an adjacent building, which had originally been a clothespin factory. Terry Dickinson designed the new Icehouse look.

It was Dave's idea to call the business The Icehouse in keeping with its original use.

The history of the Icehouse is as unique as is the business it has housed for the past eight years.

LARGEST QUILT SUPPLY

Jill Wyman, co-owner with her husband, Dave, has continually changed, updated, and enlarged the icehouse's inventory and services to stay current with customer needs and quilting trends. It is now the largest quilt supply store in northern Michigan. Quilters come from all over central and northern Michigan to replenish their supplies and learn both new and old needlework techniques.

The Icehouse also offers a complete assortment of gifts, books, rugs, and furniture to compliment any country decor. The country flavor is present throughout the store-in its gifts, quilts, candles, and classic children's books displayed on antiques collected by Dave and Jill.

As unique as the merchandise is, the services the Icehouse provides are its most unusual feature, beginning with the sales staff. Each clerk is knowledgeable in one or more needlework crafts, and are happy to consult with store patrons...often helping to solve a difficult problem or make a decision on color or fabric choices.

Classes are an important part of the Icehouse schedule. Besides the full array of quilting classes, the Icehouse has offered classes in sweatshirt painting, counted cross-stitch, smocking, stenciling, and machine applique, to name just a few. A quarterly newsletter mailed to Icehouse patrons keeps needleworkers informed of the upcoming classes. Instructors come from all over Michigan to share their skills, and quarterly, Jill invites a nationally known artist to come and teach her special craft. These classes bring new people into the store and bring back old friends to learn new techniques. Classes are offered both during the day and evening to accommodate varying schedules.

LOCK-INS

Special activities sponsored by the Icehouse have included several "lock-ins." The first lock-in occurred a few years ago when a small group of women needed time to finish their Christmas projects. They met at the Icehouse at 7:00 p.m. and left the following morning at 7:00 a.m. During the twelve hours, the women worked, they helped one another, and they made many new friends. Oh, Yes, they also finished many of their Christmas projects. Now lock-ins are held about four times a year...whenever there is a need.

Other activities have included LaCoache Tour trips to the Amish community in Shipshewana, Indiana; the American Quilt Society at Paducah, Kentucky; and many quilt shows throughout Michigan. Future tours include the Marquette Quilt Show in October, and the Williamburg's Annual Christmas Tour in December.

The Icehouse has played a unique part in Grayling's history, and as the Icehouse begins its ninth year, it appears to have a solid place in Grayling's future.

THE ICEHOUSE OF 1988 - In 1988 The Icehouse continues to provide both products and services to not only Grayling but to all of Northern Michigan.

SLEEK IMAGES' RIBBON CUTTING CEREMONY - Roger and Caroline Hall, owners of Slek Images were joined by their family and friends to help them open their new Slek Images Exercies Salon located in the Grayling Mini Mall.
